

Computer Hobbyist Available - iPhone, Open Source, & Custom Coding

I am available to talk, teach, tutor, explain, research the optimal solution using off the shelf open source programs, or create a custom coded solution.

I charge $25/hr to talk about the subject of your choosing at the {public location} or some other downtown {city} location. Happy to give you the guided tour of my iPhone and explain its hidden functionality, introduce you to the wonderful world of open source programs, give a basic programming tutorial (JavaScript or Python), or whatever. At $25/hr my fingers do not touch a keyboard.

If you have an office automation or other software need, there's probably an open source solution that will do 90% of what you want for free. I charge $25 to name the program and point you in the right direction (either via email or in person). If you need someone to customize a solution or set up the program for you, that falls under coding.

For complicated trouble shooting issues, personalizing an off the shelf program, or any (and all) coding tasks, I charge $100 for what I believe a competent person who knew the language, libraries, and problems inherent to the task could get done in an hour. I don't know it all, so this $100/hr doesn't include research, dead-ends, mistakes and so on. In which case, I'm getting paid to learn, so who cares how long it takes. So, anyway, if it's what 'I' perceive a competent coder/troubleshooter could accomplish in an hour, the cost is $100. To insure there is plenty of feedback, you get what you want, and I get paid, I do not work in longer increments than an hour.

I specialize in:

- iPhones (operation, not app creation)

- JavaScript (client side applications, especially vector graphics)

- Python (for writing custom automation scripts)

Open Source Programs (it's amazing what's already out there, free for the taking)

If it sounds like I may be of assistance, in a few short sentences please explain your exact needs and/or requirements and we can go from there. Or if a few short sentences doesn't seem like enough, I'm guessing what you really need is a personal consultation to define the problem at hand and that costs $25/hr.

I look forward to hearing from you.

For a meaningful reply, please let me know your exact needs and requirements.

© Brett Paufler 2013/2018