

Feudal Life Coach - Higher Power - Strategic Planner - Giver of Advice

I have listened to your troubles.

I have listened to your complaints.

I have thought things over, considered, and carefully evaluated.

And this is my advice.

This is what you should do.

Did I say that?

No, this is what you will do.

Different people want different things. Different people need different things. And some of those people, after they have had their say (and are convinced that they have been heard), need to be told what to do, what action to take, and what road to follow.

If that's you, what I am proposing is to take you under my wing, to think about you, to care about you, to listen to your troubles, treat them as my own, and to give you the best possible advice as I am able, as I would for my own, as I would for a brother or a sister or someone that I cared for, or more simply for someone whose success and happiness was a prerequisite towards my receiving that next $50 installment, which you can darn well bet is a something that I value most highly.

$50/hr (paid in advance) to be spent in dribs and drabs as you see fit on whatever topic or problem you like.

As a King towards his Vassal, a Master towards his Slave, and/or as a Drill Sargent towards his New Recruit (be all that you can be and all that).

If this is something that you are interested in exploring or feel that would be of benefit, please:

- (1) restate the proposal in your own words, and
- (2) explain specifically what you are looking for, and we'll go from there.

Failure to comply with these terms will result in your email being treated as trash. So perhaps it is best to think of your reply as the start of an interview process wherein spelling and good grammar count, as I will not enter into such a relationship lightly. And at $50/hr, neither should you.

This is NOT therapy.

This is NOT counseling.

I hold NO degrees.

Talk may be cheap, but my advice and continued support is not.

© Brett Paufler 2013/2018